CASE STUDY: CREATING A SERENE SPA EXPERIENCE

THE CHALLENGE: This Canadian spa had two outdated change rooms with large, key-operated lockers. Guests frequently misplaced their keys, which resulted in replacement expenses, lost staff time, and diminished guest capacity. The experience was also frustrating and unpleasant.

THE SOLUTION: With a desire to create a more peaceful and serene experience, staff reached out to Spacesaver for advice. Together they created a secure system that not only looked beautiful and eliminated keys, but that also added 80 locker openings to the same space.

HOW IT WORKS:

Guests place their belongings in an empty locker, close the door, and simply place their wristband against the RFID panel to lock it. To open their locker, they once again place their wristband against the RFID lock and the door pops open. If guests forget which locker is theirs, they can scan their wristbands at an RFID information terminal in the change room to identify their locker number.

THE RESULT: Because the spa was able to add 80 additional lockers, and because the costs of replacing locks and lost keys were eliminated, the lockers paid for themselves in less than a year. The change rooms are also better integrated with the rest of the spa's clean, natural vibe. Best of all, guests can now enjoy a convenient, trouble-free experience.
